HERITAGE

My forbears loved the earth. They tilled the soil
Upon a virgin and wind-ravished shore.
They kneaded blood and sweat into their toil,
And died lamenting they could toil no more.
Their firstborn sons grew up, and they were soon
Good steady peasants, champions of the field,
Timing the crops by signs and changing moon,
And accurately forecasting final yield.

The earth gave back. She loved their knowing hands
Upon her ample girth and rugged breast;
She made them masters of the potent lands
In which these hundred years their bodies rest.
They left no gold, - no heritage of worth,
Except their great and patient love of earth.

FOREWORD

It was during World War II, as a Navy wife, that I used to sit at my desk while working for a Court Reporter in Washington, D.C., and, because the work was seasonal, I often had much time on my hands, and wished for something to do.

It was then that I began to wonder why there was no written record of my Grandmother Mary E. Thornhill Chapman's family. I knew that each year at our regular family reunion on Mother's Day there were fewer of the older members left who could tell us the history of the family. This alarmed me into trying, in a rather clumsy, blind way, to gather and sort all of the data I could find on her family. It was begun as a labor of love, as I mainly wanted to please my beloved Grandmother. I found, however, as I went along that where I had previously known little or nothing of the Thornhills, I began to learn quite a lot about them, to feel close to each and every one. I had, as had many others before me, faced the hard job of taking my new husband, in 1940, to one of our family reunions and had seen the "foggy" look on his face when he was confronted with so many new relatives. I had an idea that a written record would help him, and any new recruits in the family, to learn "who was who".

My Grandmother kept cards and letters coming to me with any bits of new data she could get. Other members of the family cooperated, also, and in 1944 I was able to get together a small typewritten booklet as our only record. I made only three copies, one for my Grandmother, one for my Mother, and one for myself.

The work was shelved then until 1952 when the members of the family reunion voted that the record be brought up to date, if possible, and put in some printed form so that all members who wished could own a copy. This was to be done for the sake of our descendants.

There are still many blanks left unfilled. Perhaps in the years to come we will be able to add more information and make our books more complete. For that reason I have had the book made loose-leaf. I hope all who own the book will enjoy reading and owning it as much as I have enjoyed compiling it, and that they will keep adding new data to it as the years go by and keep it up to date.

I wish to express my appreciation to Mrs. F. A. Flicker, of Gadsden, Ala., who kindly made the sketch for the cover from a photograph.

DEDICATION

This history is dedicated to the descendents of William Hill and Delilah White Thornhill who are responsible for the annual Reunion.

If, when many a grain of sand has trickled through in the glass of time, this history shall serve to help recall a train of memories or if, in the future generations it shall awaken the never dying family spirit that we now possess, then our highest endeavor has been achieved in gathering the data about the Thornhill family.

-- Mary Johnson Thomas

HISTORY OF THE THORNHILL FAMILY REUNION

There is usually some rhyme or reason for the beginning of any custom or habit which has been in existence thirty years, to date. The Thornhill Family Reunion is no exception to this rule. The beginning of this occasion was one of sadness, yet it was destined to be a very significant one. The Thornhill Family Reunion is composed of the descendants of William Hill and Dorothy Jane Thornhill, children of Gresham and Joanna Thornhill.

On February 29, 1924, many members of the immediate family were called together to pay their last respects to one of the elder members of this beloved family, Ella Catherine Thornhill Morris. At this time Lathram Morris, a son, expressed a desire to meet back at the church and family burial ground on Mother's Day, which incidentally was his Mother's birthday that year, since Mother's Day came on May 11th in 1924. This they did. Those attending the first reunion were few in number compared to the large family connections, but it was definitely decided to make this an annual occasion and that all families would be notified. Thus, the day ended, having established a tradition in the family circle, long since known and looked forward to as the Thornhill Family Reunion.

Time marches on and as is to be expected, interest and attendance grew, so that from the mere twelve or fifteen present in 1924, there were in attendance approximately one-hundred and fifty in 1945 - one of the peak years.

World War II caused a slight decrease in attendance, due to various members being away in the service of their Country. By this time, however, special programs were being planned through what had become an organized group. Individual talents or accomplishments were recognized and a memorial service held for any deceased members. Additions to the family, either by birth or marriage, were welcomed. Flowers were arranged on all family graves and always a most attractive and delicious picnic lunch was enjoyed under the towering oak trees.

Each succeeding year brings the families as they are together again, and as one member remarked, we have never been accompanied by rain. Fair skies add to the pleasure of the jaunt from at least four states: Mississippi, Florida, Georgia, and Alabama, as greetings, reminences and finally farewells are exchanged at this carefully planned and eagerly anticipated Thornhill Family Reunion.

According to Mr. T. J. Thornhill's book THORNHILL GENEALOGY (1940), Gresham L. Thornhill lived somewhere in Virginia and some of the family traditions are to the effect that he came to live with his son, William H., near Wetumpka, Ala., died there and was buried in the cemetery nearby, but efforts to locate his grave have failed. Another family tradition is to the effect that he did not come to Alabama.

William Hill Thornhill was born in Virginia and died of Pneumonia- Menengitis near Wetumpka, Alabama.

There is a family tradition, according to Mr. T. J. Thornhill's book (1940), to the effect that this William H. Thornhill, when about 16 years of age, was left at home on a Sunday morning with a sister to cook the family dinner while the others went to church.

Chicken pie was on the menu, and, when the pie was cooked, young William made a raid on it and his sister resisted and in the melee the pie was upset and became a total loss.

Something told William that there would be an unpleasant experience for him when his father got home from church. Not being in the mood to face such a situation, he left home unceremoniously and also even left Virginia, going on to Alabama, and, when settled he brought his Father on to Alabama.

It was while employed as overseer on the White plantation that he met his future wife, daughter of Stephen S. White, the owner, and Mary Ann White. Mary Ann White died July 12, 1884, at about 65 years of age.
